Thomas Hardy, last of the Victorians, author of "Under the Greenwood Tree", "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," and other famous works, is no more. Enriched by literary fame and honors galore, he lived to the good age of 87 years. One of the striking features of his death was the burial of his body, after cremation, in Westminster Abbey, and of his heart in a Stinsford churchyard. Such had been his request. Hardy has been called a pessimist. He was not. Perhaps one would say he was a fatalist. We have our own personal opinion though, that he was a scientific determinist, or more simply, a glorified realist, not to be considered in a class with Drieser drivel, however.

The Texas banker's association has struck upon a most satisfactory way in which to curb bank robbing. The organization has offered a $5,000 reward for the death of any robber, and not a cent for the apprehension of a live one. Here we see a distinct attitude displayed toward the lax and inefficient court system in existence in the U. S. The view of the Texas bankers is that a live bandit can almost always 'get away with it,' even after apprehension, while a dead one cannot. The system has brought astonishing results, emphasized in a notable decline in robberies.

The consummation of the Franco-United States treaty, which it was hoped would bring about permanent outlawry of war between the two nations, marks the failure of what might have been a great advance in international relations, and would have established a precedent for other nations. The treaty however, merely included a clause "deprecating resort to war," which is neither here nor there in outlawing of war. There is still just as much chance for war with France as ever, but had the treaty been properly constructed, making such a fresh debacle from that source. It is to be hoped that other nations will realize our diplomatic mistake and profit thereby.

It is hardly necessary to remark that Richard Halliburton's lecture at the Ebell club was all and more than what was expected. His rollicking, romantic, vibrant approach, his appeal to one's aesthetic qualities made the talk more than delightful. We have a sneaking suspicion that there weren't many people in the audience who didn't envy Dick a little bit.

The last basketball game was surely a thriller. We lost weight considerably, watching it, and at the last felt it the greatest game we had ever seen. And what a contrast over the game with Southwestern University!

Good reading: "The Critic in American Life" by Irving Babbitt, in the February Forum. Also, "The Bishop of San Luis Rey" by Thornton Wilder, a new novel, said to be the most stylistically perfect American novel ever written.

Frosh Entertain Sophs at Dance

After the exciting basketball game with Long Beach, Friday night, February 3, the Don freshmen royally entertained the sophomores by a sport dance which was held in the Andrews' gymnasium.

Popular music was furnished by Bob Thompson and members of his orchestra, from 9 to 12 p. m., and couples kept the floor comfortably crowded throughout the entire evening.

The Long Beach guests were invited to participate in the dance and responded in such fine spirit that the jollity of the event was greatly increased.

Chaperones of the informal affair were Miss Floy Donaldson, Miss Hazel Dawson, Mr. L. L. Beeman, and Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Russel.

Don Contest Time Extended to Feb. 15

By Catherine Best

Because of final exams and the slight annoyance occasioned thereby, the Don cartoon contest has been extended until Wednesday, February 15.

Subjects for the cartoons are to be school affairs, such as finals, the sad spectacle of disqualification, new classes, new blondes, registration, elections, basketball, track, dances, or important club activities.

Entires may be given to any one of the three judges, Miss Floy Donaldson, head of the art department; Thelma Morehouse, Don editor; or Roderick Smiley, art student.

J. C. Students Free From Examinations

Graduates of Santa Ana college do not have to take entrance exams in order to register as juniors at either Stanford, Southern California university, or Occidental, according to Dean Fisk.

In a letter to President Hammond, Karl M. Cowdery, assistant registrar at Southern California university has stated:

"Judging by the statements of Mr. Fisk, your junior college students have already taken the Thorndike examination. We shall be glad to recognize this fact and not hold them for a repetition of the test."

Guyer Entertains New "OK" Society

"OK's" is the name chosen for the club organized by the students who are not living at home. Their first meeting of the semester will be at the home of Maurice Guyer at 8 o'clock Friday evening, February 10. All members have received invitations on which they are instructed to bring a Valentine.

S. B. Officers For Coming Semester Installed In Last Week's Assembly

Lawrence Minge, New Student Body President, Has Plans to Make Coming Semester Successful

Tarbet, Walker To Debate on Mencken

Two of the colleges most promising debaters, Dwain Tarbet and James Walker, will meet a team from the University of Southern California here on Monday, the 13th, of this month, to debate upon the question "Whether or not the Mencken School" (Continued on page 4)

Executives Have Initial Session

Whether or not outsiders should be admitted to Santa Ana college functions, was the principal topic discussed at the meeting of the board of control last Monday afternoon. The matter is to be gone into thoroughly before a final decision is made.

The objection to outsiders seems to be that too many high school students are attending the social functions of the college. We are not a part of the high school; therefore, some line will have to be drawn. Lawrence Minge and Mydas Capps were chosen as the two delegates to represent Santa Ana at the junior college convention to be held at Fullerton. "Social clubs and Social Functions" will be their subject for discussion.

"Pinafore" To Be College Operetta

A Gilbert and Sullivan light operetta "H. M. S. Pinafore," is the forthcoming presentation in May by the college and high school music departments. The two schools are combining forces so that there will be a greater number of voices to pick the cast and chorus from.

None of the cast has been chosen yet, because of the number of new students whose talents are as yet unknown to Miss Martin, who will direct the operetta.

"Pinafore" has been given by many high schools with great success, and it would seem that with the talent in these schools it should be a big hit.

College Delegates Attend Y. W. Supper

At the annual inter-collegiate supper of the Pasadena junior college Y. W. C. A. held Wednesday, February 1, at the Pasadena Y. W. C. A. Santa Ana college was represented by three women, Joy Wilson, Margaret Glenn and Judy Cummings.

After the meal, Miss Clara Miller, student secretary of U. S. C., led a discussion on the national purpose of the Y. W. C. A. in preparation for the coming national biennial Y. W. C. A. convention at Sacramento.

Officers for the coming semester were installed at last week's assembly by our past president, Gerald Twist.

Lawrence Minge, president, has several policies which he will submit to the student body some time in the near future.

Spencer Stewart, vice president, has charge of all advertising of student body activities. He also serves during any absence of the president.

Hazel Smith is the private secretary of the president as well as general secretary for the student body. Her main duty is to take minutes of all meetings of the board and post these minutes on the bulletin board after each meeting. She represents com- (Continued on page 3)

J. C. Bachelors Club Plans Annual Dance

With the purpose in mind of making their dance the biggest and best social event of the year, the Bachelors are planning their annual ball.

Full plans have not yet been completed, but the date has been announced as February 25, the hour as 9 p. m. and the place as Santa Ana country club.

Tickets will be placed on sale at one dollar a couple.

St. Valentine will very likely be the motif for decoration, Lawrence Minge, grand exalted of the Bachelors, said. The orchestra has not yet been decided upon because an effort is being made to secure the best available.

It is rumored that all the members of the organization of Bachelors will fete their lady fairs at a dinner at Ketner's before the ball.

Campus Y. W. To Hold Valentine Tea

A Colonial-Valentine tea will be held in the Y-hut on Tuesday, February 14, at which each girl is to bring her best Valentine—her mother.

All the decorations, which are under the personal supervision of Opal Vanruff, are to follow the Colonial and Valentine motif. The refreshments will also follow this motif. Dorothy Haynes is in charge of this committee.

A musical program consisting of old fashioned, quaint, and novel numbers is being planned by Mary Bruner.

Marjorie and Frances Schweitzer are to sing a vocal duet, "Among My Souvenirs", with pantomime. Other numbers on the program will be a vocal solo by Thelma Stovall, a vocal duet by Marian Bruner and Catherine Best, a violin solo by Rowena Newcomb, a reading by Dorothy Clarkson, a violin solo by Jane Stewart, and a reading by Geneva Hartung.

Campus Chatter

Jack Clark says that the difference between a stoic and a cynic is that a stoic brings the baby and you wash it in the cynic.

"Gee, I never knew those girls could sing like that!" remarked an enraptured onlooker concerning the college girls quartet. The quartet, composed of Hazel Smith, Katherine Kirvin, Jean Fox and Jean Nicholson were on the program at the P. T. A. entertainment on last Thursday evening.

"I hope this car isn't a Chevrolet" said Bobbie Isch when "King Pete" presented her with a roadster in the special assembly last Wednesday.

Fudgmaking has become quite common since last semester. Dorothy Clarkson, Marian Bruner, and Frances Schweitzer have pledged themselves as the "Three Fudgeteers." occasionally others help eat it.

Charles Spotts seems to know most anything he is asked in geography. He has acquired the name "Walking Encyclopedia." He proves his value in class by his bluffs or otherwise.

John Fitz said he went to a church party and was showered with beans, rice, or corn—he couldn't remember which. A further explanation might prove interesting.

Teddy Mueller is quite enthusiastic over her class in natural dancing. She said it was a great deal like learning to swim except that it was not so wet.

Miss Frances Lapum has found a way to keep her shorthand students interested; she tells jokes. "The following", she said, "I know is true."

A woman, according to her husband, is like an angel because she never had any clothes to wear, she is always harping on things, and she is always up in the air.

Ruth Tantlinger, Eddie Gerhardt, and Jack Taylor have been engaging in high finance. Their purpose was to make a howling success of the soph-frosh dance. Thirty-five cents was extracted from all freshmen they caught in the hall.

Stanley Raymond is now working in the soda fountain in Kelly's drug store.

Mr. Mustol's orchestra gained several new members at mid-term. Among them are two violinist, a clarinetist, and a saxophonist.

Josephine Ball was given the "honor" of explaining a large part of the final semester's work to the one new student in music 4B.

Men attending the first swimming class of the semester found that the water heater had not been in operation. Most of them stood shivering on the edge of the pool, not daring to make the leap.

For our own safety we must develop a new spirit—the spirit of internationalism. Nationalistic propaganda and aggrandizement by France, Italy, (or America), will have to stop.

Student Verse

These Lovers!

The lovers stood in fond embrace;
Their love seemed firm and true.
Just then a shadow crossed his face,
Back from her arms he drew.

"My past I have withheld from you Because it's black with sin."
She answered, "Dear, my love is true,
I care not what you've been."

He said, "I've murdered many men."
The maiden gently smiled,
She softly kissed him once again
And lisped, "You darling child."

He told of many a ruthless deed,
Of lust, and crime, and gore.
"I do not mind the life you lead.
"I'll love you evermore."

"I must admit one thing," he wept,
"That ruins our romance.
As shame and sadness o'er him swept,
"I never learned to dance."

"Oh Lord! not that, not that, not that!"
Was all that she could say.
She blindly wheeled and grabbed her hat,
And sadly went her way.

Fate

It means so very much to me,
It means so very much to me
For while at work or while at play
It seems to help me all the day.

I've other books I hate to see
Spanish, English and Psychology.
Too bad it seems, that fate decrees,
That I must always open these.

'Tis time for test! The profs now say,
"Begin reviewing right away."
I guess I can't do as I please.
If I would make my average C's.

I'll hide the pleasures once in store,
And study now forevermore,
If tests last long I know I'll find,
That I've become the "college grind."

Who's Who

She's five foot two, has eyes so blue, and is a petite and chic chestnut blonde.
Her pearly smile has won her many a suitor.

Some think she's shy and bashful, but unfortunately they are not yet acquainted.

When she is not fluttering about our campus you will find her at West Coast Walker's taking in the cash.

For further information on the subject, see the commissioner of men's athletics.

Romauldo Olviaries is a new college student from San Juan Capistrano. He made a name for himself in track while he was in high school.

Exchanges

Over one-hundred books, including several rare volumes, have been recently added to the library of California Tech. These books are a gift of Samuel Starrow, a resident of Pasadena.

February 23 is the date set for a meeting of the Women's forensic league at La Verne college for their annual extempore contest, which will include all of the colleges of the Southern California Women's forensic league. The subject for discussion will be "The Relation of the Press to American Life."

Riverside junior college is rejoicing over the fact that no one flunked out of school last quarter.

He: "Mable thinks I'm a wit."

She: "Well, she's half right."

Curious: "Doesn't it upset you when you hit a pedestrian?"

Reckless: "No, I've never hit one as big as all that."

Uncle Holtzman says, "I never did trust these circus freaks. Just yesterday I seen in a paper the headline: 'Three Armed Men Hold up Drug Store'."

Telephotography is to be demonstrated at the University of Redlands on the evening of February 6. The wire transmission of moving still pictures will be shown through the courtesy of the Pacific southwest telephone company.

A 115-foot sundial made of flowering plants in blossom the whole year round is to be constructed on the campus of the University of the Philippines.

Motorist: "I killed your cat. I shall replace the animal."

Old Maid: "Oh, this so sudden! But I'm afraid you can't catch mice."

The Last Act

The scene has changed. The stage, again reset, holds all the players in an eager atmosphere surrounding the beginning of the end. A new semester opens a new act and carries within itself the admonition: "The past is something, but the present more; will it not to be past? Nor fail withal to hold the future in your thoughts—You can remember, you can also hope!"

New opportunities hold new successes. This is to the essence of the drama—to work, to live, to laugh; or, in a word to be true-hearted Dons. Relief from the past—Joy for the future—So on with the play. Camera! Action!

Hockey—Queen of Sports

If you play hockey, why not come out for the team? If you cannot play, why not come out and learn how? Coach Ellen Foote wants enough material to make at least three teams. Here is an opportunity for engaging in the second phase of college life.

Of course, the majority of you who are not already out for the team will say, "Oh, I haven't time; I have too much studying to do." While playing, you will forget your worries and troubles, and will be physically and mentally refreshed. Your studying will be easier for you after your mind is off of it for a while.

Cartooning Pays!

The artists of the college have shown little interest in the cartoon contest which is being held for them. The purpose of holding the contest was to discover logical cartoonists for the Algol. Now it is to arouse interest in making cartoons for the Don.

A worth while prize is to be offered for the best cartoon, and should be an incentive. There are undoubtedly many young geniuses in our midst and to have the privilege of seeing their work in the college annual should interest them.

The closing date has been postponed because not sufficient material has been handed in. There is still time to draw a clever cartoon and win a prize.

War

By Catherine Best

"And the worst feature of the situation lies in the fact that the patriotic parties in France and Italy believe they can best hold power by stirring up Nationalist sentiment, which, of course, feeds upon quarrels with other nations."

This from the Sunday Times of a few weeks ago. Coming, as it did, in the Armistice season when we hear national patriotism lauded to the skies, it made me think! Are not ideas the most vital things in the world? And if the great American public hears one of the things which make war possible lauded on every national holiday by thousands of well-meaning orators, is world peace going to come any sooner?

When patriotism is used to smooth over such things as our conquest of the Philippines, we wave our flags violently. But when we get perspective on it and see patriotism fomenting what may develop into another world butchery, we feel differently!

Patriotism had its day when the nation was the unit, isolated from other countries by natural conditions. Now we no longer have the safety of isolation. AIRPLANES CAN CROSS THE OCEAN! If that is not significant to you, think it over!

College Teachers Obey Commands Of King Pete Twist on King's Day

Even our dignified and high minded professors had to bow at the throne of high and mighty King Peter I, last Wednesday, King's Day. According to tradition they were forced to abide according to his commands.

Mr. Glenn, complying with King Peter's wishes, gave an excellent presentation of the Varsity Drag. At the same occasion he rendered the famous song, "All policemen have big feet" much to the amusement of students.

After going through all sorts of facial contortions, Mr. Phillips rushed to the window. But he was quite well. He was merely dramatizing how he felt after smoking his first cigar.

Language sharks of the 11 a. m. French class have suggested changing the hour into a grand opera session. Miss Watson, accompanied by her victrola, sang "True Liebe," which was met with enthusiastic approval.

The Stewart family fifty-fifty proposition is quite the vogue now among all campus compromises. Students have concluded that if a professor can cheerfully part with his individuality (mustache) for six months, because of a wife's whim, certainly they can afford to be lenient in the solving of their independent problems.

According to the King's orders Mrs. Northcross delivered a ten minute speech on "Collective unresponsibility and personal responsibility." But somehow she wandered from the subject and gave an account of the life of Richard Halliburton.

missioners and the student body.

Edwin Gerhardt, commissioner of forensics, has charge of all scheduled debates during the semester. He must help the team in obtaining material for their debates and act with the faculty advisor in getting judges for debates.

Mydas Capps, commissioner of publications, is editor of the Algol. She appoints the editor of the Don. However, beginning next year, the editor of the Don will also be a commissioner. This will put the responsibility on two people rather than one.

George Tobias, commissioner of mens' athletics, appoints managers for all athletic teams. He must keep an accurate check on all materials purchased and submit a report to the board. He has charge of the monograms, and issues them to those earning them.

Jean Nicholson, commissioner of women's athletics, is president of the Women's Athletic association. She must appoint managers. A list of all monograms issued during the semester will be filed by her.

Ruth Tantlinger, social chairman, has charge of all social activities held during the semester. She, with the aid of Miss Agnes Miller, faculty advisor, plans all such activities. Ideas and aims are presented to the board for approval.

James Sullivan, treasurer, must keep in very close touch with the school bank and with each commissioner.

Penny Drive Started By Honor Society

A penny drive will be launched in all the schools and in several clubs of Santa Ana, February 22, for the purpose of raising money for the Santa Ana junior college student loan fund.

This penny drive, so-called because each person is requested to give only a few cents, was originated several years ago by the Parent-Teachers Association of Santa Ana.

The drive will be conducted in every school in Santa Ana from the kindergarten up. The Honor Society under the supervision of Miss Watson will have charge of the drive in the junior college.

The student loan fund was established several years ago by the Santa Ana board of education and they have since taken legal steps to safeguard it. By means of this fund, students who have proved themselves worthy during their schooling in junior college are loaned money for a certain period of time, without interest, to enable them to secure a higher education.

This drive is for the benefit of Santa Ana junior college, so let's put it over big.

Halliburton Dares To Seek Adventure

With youthful impetuosity, Richard Halliburton, the "glorious adventurer," told of the beauties of the old world and the intimate happenings of his travels to the members and guests of the Santa Ana Ebell club, Tuesday afternoon, January 31.

Bringing to his hearers glimpses of a new and magic world through the medium of his genius, he told of the three dreams and aspirations of his life: to climb the Matterhorn, to run the Marathon, and to swim the Hellespont. The description of his realization of the first two, and especially of his intoxicated Marathon and how he "shaved Ashens", thoroughly displayed his mastery of humor.

It was in the description of his boyhood hero-worship at the shrine of Rupert Brooke, and of his manhood visit to the lonely grave of that remarkable poet, that Richard Halliburton reached the depths of feeling and charm which were the outstanding feature of his talk. He drew a poignant picture and paid great tribute to the great poet.

As a visionary genius, a glorious adventurer, a youthful ego justifiably spoiled, Richard Halliburton dares to live his dreams.

"Chubby" Leaves College Campus

A member of the race of Equus Caballus was to be graduated this mid-term.

As students before him have entered this institution and gone out into the world, so also has Chubby come and so will he go.

Chubby is the campus horse whose motto has been "Slow but sure". He has now attained honor on the retiring list. Students will miss the slap of lines and occasional "giddap" from the gardner, Mr. Warren, for a galloping motor-driven lawnmower is to take Chubby's place.

Musical Notes

Dr. Paule Sohn, German scientist, came to the conclusion several years ago that all musicians are freaks. He says there is a characteristic musical type in which the head is a certain shape. This is caused by the gradual development of the sound centers in the brain.

According to the psychology taught in college, Dr. Sohn's reasoning is erroneous because the development of brain centers does not alter the size or shape of the head. Nevertheless, if we look at busts or pictures of the great masters, we can see certain marked resemblance.

Being a child prodigy may not be as fine as it would seem. The average life of musicians who were prodigies is thirty three years, while the average life of other musicians is sixty seven years.

Among the old blue laws of New Haven's Puritanical days there is one that says, "No one shall eat mince pies, dance, play cards, or play any instrument of music except the drum, trumpet, or jewsharp."

If they considered violin playing a sin, what would they have done to anyone who might toot a saxophone?

Wanted—A steady, respectable young man to look after a garden and care for a cow who has a good voice and is accustomed to sing in the choir.

"Here, waiter!" said the man at the table, "Tell the orchestra to play the Toreador Song while I eat this beefsteak. I feel like a bull-fighter."

Emphasizing Types

By Helen Battey

Slim, fat, tall, short, chubby, awkward, graceful, loud, quiet, "what not." Surely you are one of these. It is almost essential to find your type before trying to beautify yourself—that is, in the manner of dressing.

First impressions are usually made by appearance, and no one wants to give the wrong impressions. Many girls think themselves one type and dress and act accordingly, when they are really strictly another type. The result is that they are hopelessly nondescript.

Are you slender and rather awkward? If so, you will be successful as the slim, boyish type. This type is most fortunate, for the slender woman is the vogue for "at least another year". Tailor made dresses and suits are yours. Don't bedangle yourself with earrings, fluffy flowers, frizzled-out hair and the strictly frivolous articles of clothing. Stick to the plain type of clothing.

Are you chubby and small? Then, naturally you are the opposite of your slender and boyish friend and you should wear opposite wearing apparel. You are the feminine type, but don't think that you should adorn your dresses with many, many ruffles—that will only add to your chubbiness. Your dresses should be of soft, floating materials and of feminine style. Don't go in for cropped hair—wear it fluffy or wavy.

Are you rather tall and quiet? It is hard to be Juno-esque these days of oddly cut skirts, but fortunately there are always two types of party dresses and one suits you to perfection. It is the gown of period style, which is the full and long skirted, basque waist gown. In this you can be statuesque, quiet and dignified as you wish. The tailor made dresses are always good for you for other occasions.

Advice for all types—the least amount of trimming looks much better than too much. In these days of great simplicity in dressing, some adornment is necessary, but it should be chosen with the idea of accentuating some already good point in the cut or the enrichment of some color not that needs to be brought out.

College Students Entertain P. T. A.

Both college and high school students participated in the Parent Teachers association entertainment at Andrews gymnasium, Thursday night.

The college women's chorus of twenty-five members under the direction of Miss Martin sang "Trees" and "Songs My Mother Taught Me."

Earl Jessee, Charles Haas, Paris Edgar and Clarence Ranney sang "Out of the Dusk to You" and "Indian Dawn." They were accompanied at the piano by Eber Flaws.

"Mighty Lak a Rose" and "Lassie O'Mine" were presented by the college women's quartet, and the men's chorus ended the musical program with "Pale in the Amber West" and "Winter Song."

Beta Gamma Takes In New Members

New members of the Beta Gamma society were elected and admitted at a recent dinner. The Beta Gamma was founded in 1924 by a group of students who felt that there should be an organization to foster the best ideals of school life.

The present members are Melvin Harter, president; Mary Jane Owens, secretary; Ed Riniker, Lawrence Minge, Mydas Capps, Catherine Best and Gerald Twist. Mrs. John Tessmann and E. M. Nealley are advisors.

Don Basketeers Meet Fullerton

Saturday night the Don basketeers meet the Fullerton quintet on the local court in what is probably the league game of the season. Smarting from their defeat by Long Beach last Friday night, the boys are out to win. Then, too, the Dons are anxious to avenge themselves for their defeat upon the gridiron by Fullerton earlier in the year. These are just two reasons why the game tomorrow night will be a hard fast game.

The Dons and the Fullerton aggregation are tied for third place. Pasadena and Long Beach being tied for first place. Strange to say both Fullerton and Santa Ana have defeated the same teams and been defeated by the same teams. According to figures and dope, Fullerton has one point over Santa Ana. They defeated Glendale 49 to 27, while the Dons managed to get 46 points to Glendale's 25. Hence it can be seen that Fullerton annexed but 1 point more comparatively than did the local team. Nevertheless the Dons consider themselves better than Fullerton and tomorrow will attempt to prove that superiority.

"Fullerton has a fast, accurate shooting team," said Coach Scott, "and I think this will be the hardest game of our schedule. The spectators are assured of a fast snappy game with a comparatively low score."

The winner of this game will be awarded third place in conference rating, for Long Beach and Pasadena are playing their tie off also this week. The loser of this latter contest will be awarded second place and these two teams will compete with the first and second teams of the other divisions of the conference.

of Thought is detrimental to American educational idelas."

The subject of the debate will be whether or not these ideas and thought, which Mr. Mencken teaches and publishes, are apt to corrupt some of the present educational ideas.

On every topic, schools laws, marriage and politics, he contradicts the prevailing standard opinions.

This debate will, in all probability, be attended by a large number of college students, as an opportunity such as this is not often at a students disposal. The time, 3 o'clock has been especially arranged so as to make it convenient for all students to attend.

The judges for the debate will be selected from the Santa Ana high school teachers.

Norville University is changing its academic system. The old system of requiring a certain number of credits for graduation is to be made over to the European comprehensive system which requires an examination at the completion of the entire course instead of at the end of each semester, Harvard and Redcliffe have already adopted this system.

"All Wet"

"What is wetter than a wet hockey field and a wet, wet day?" asks the Santa Ana college co-eds who are striving for honors in hockey. What fair maiden cares to be "all wet" or splashed and spotted from soft mud? These are few of course, which means hockey is not practical until Old Sol favors the field with his broad smile.

Don Team Drops All Championship Claim

Dropping all claims to the section championship, the Don basketball team lost to the Long Beach Vikings last Friday by a score of 24-23. The game was one of the fastest ever seen on the Andrews gym floor.

By losing this game Santa Ana gave up all claims to the championship. The title now stands between Pasadena and Long Beach, both of which are undefeated.

The score from first to last was a matter of but a few points. The game opened with Long Beach placing two nice shots. The Dons soon tied the score and then placed themselves in the lead. This they retained until near the end of the half when the Vikings rallied. The score at the half stood at 12-10 in favor of Long Beach.

The last half was a fight for the lead. Neither team at any time had more than three points lead. With a minute to play the score was 24-23.

The Dons made a desperate attempt to regain the lead but failed. A foul was called on Long Beach against Ted Cook who missed his chance to tie the score. The Viking guard threw the ball to safety just as the game ended.

Faris Edgar was closely guarded and so did not score in his usual fashion. He was, nevertheless, high point man on the Don team with a total of nine points. Youel and Cooke came next with 7 points each. Frank, of the Long Beach squad, was high point man of the game with a total of 12 points.

The lineup was:

Santa Ana	Long Beach
Edgar (9)	RF (12) Frank
Youel (7)	LF (1) Thompson
Cook (7)	RG (9) Hopkins
White	RG Davis
Allee	LG (1) Linnell

 Substitutions—Santa Ana: Beatty for White; Long Beach: Osler for Thompson.

IN THE LIBRARY

How can a fellow study
 With diversions all about?
 His efforts may be honest
 But they are put to rout.

It's a simple explanation
 Nothing much to vex;
 When there's a preponderance
 Of the opposing sex.

A flash and touch of color,
 Soft trembling of a brow,
 A trace of inward laughter
 I see them all right now.

With pursing of rouged lips
 A small and cunning mouth;
 Entrancing, disconcerting,
 Affecting, like a drouth.

How can a fellow study
 In a co-ed study hall?
 I can't and I am leaving;
 Got no will-power at all!

Soph-Frosh Track Stars to Compete

The interclass track meet will be held Tuesday, February 4, at 3:30 p. m. The sophomores will attempt to prove their superiority over the frosh track team but the latter are determined to prevent this. This will be the first appearance of the cinder trippers this year and will be an indication of the strength of the track team this year. Although the sophomores have some lettermen on their team, the frosh have numerous good men, who were stars in high school. The meet will be well worth seeing.

Following is a list of the events:

Track—100 yd. dash, 220 yard dash, 440 yard sprint, 880 yard and mile runs, 120 yard high hurdles, 220 yard low hurdles, 440 yard relay. Field: High jump, broad jump, hop, step and jump, pole-vault, discus throw, shot-put, and javelin throw.

All athletes wishing to compete are urged to see Coach Cook or Harry "Pop" Weaverling to sign up for their respective events. Each entrant may compete in as many events as he chooses. It is hoped that sufficient men will turn out to make each race and field event full of competition.
